FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Residents get involved with city decisions

City hosts informational reception for open spots on 17 Boards and Commissions

McKINNEY, TEXAS (June 16, 2010) – The City of McKinney will host a Board and Commission recruitment reception on Monday, June 21. Residents who want to get involved in helping to shape city policies for a variety of areas from libraries, historic preservation, economic development, to the arts should attend the event.

When: Monday, June 21, 2010 5 p.m.-6:30 p.m. (Come and Go)

Where: McKinney Performing Arts Center, Ruschhaupt Reception Hall 111 N. Tennessee St.

“Joining one of the city’s 17 boards and commissions is a great way to help shape the future direction of McKinney,” said City Secretary Sandy Hart. “There are positions open on boards and commissions that would be perfect for a variety of interests, all important to leading our city.”

During the reception, residents can visit with current board members, pick up informational literature and see booths displaying responsibilities and activities of the boards and commissions. Applications will be available and accepted at the event. The deadline for submission of applications for the current year’s appointments is June 25.
