

Before, During, and After Hail

Before Hail

- Listen for severe thunderstorm and tornado watches and warnings, as these are the systems that are most likely to produce hail.
- Look for signs of the approaching storm, such as darkening skies and increasing wind.
- Take shelter indoors and postpone outdoor activities.
- Put vehicles in garages and outdoor objects in storage to reduce damages.

During Hail

- Stay indoors and take shelter.

After Hail

- Report damage to your insurance company. Take pictures as soon as it is safe to do so to provide proof of damages.
