Certified Food Protection Manager / Food Service Worker Certification:

A Certified Food Protection Manager (CFM) is required for each section of each food establishment. The City of McKinney may require Certified Food Protection Managers in sufficient number to insure that all areas of food preparation and food service, during times of operation, are under the direction of such certified supervisory personnel. CFM course certification programs may be found at <http://www.dshs.state.tx.us/foodestablishments/CFM.shtm>. Remaining non- CFM food service workers must complete a food service worker class that is approved by the Texas Department of State Health Services within 30 days of employment and be issued a card reflecting satisfactory completion. Food Service Worker cards are valid for 2 years. Food Service worker course certification programs may be found at <http://www.dshs.state.tx.us/foodestablishments/handler.shtm>.
